A Duel on the Tight Rope.

The taste for rope-dancing, which the celebrated Mad. Violante brought into fashion in the early part of the last century, flourished nowhere so much and so long as in Dublin, where the agile lady established herself, and opened a theatre, the attractions of which for a time superseded every other place of amusement. Madame Violante was the Blondin of her day, but more of an artist, and less of an acrobat. She treated the public to scenic effects they had never witnessed before; she trained some notable actresses—among whom was Peg Woffingactresses—among whom was Peg Woffing-ton—and carried rope-dancing to so high a pitch, that the beau monde of Dublin talked of, and attended to, nothing else for some years. Long after her day of her management had gone by, and her theatre passed into other hands and uses, (it is said to have became a Methodist chapel) the relish for th's species of performance was strong enough in the public minds to produce a kind of civil war regarding the morits of two rival rope-dancers, who had established themselves and their ropes at opposite ends of the city. One astonished the natives of the then fashionable Liberties, the others amazed the dwellers of the New Town, who had not then extended to Mertion Square. They had arrived in Dublin on the same day, set up their rival camps, and sent forth their manifestoes next morning; and henceforth there was nothing but contention at dinner-table and tea party, in tavern, in coffee house, and billiard room, concerning the moral, social, and acrobatic worth of Signor

As their names and the other a Frenchman.
Sarfuico was young, musculer, and tall for a gentleman whose business had to be conducted on the tight-tope. Perote's age could not ce ascertained; his adversaries asserted that the blackness of his thin hair was owing that the blackness of his thin hair was owing to dye; he was smail, slender, and winddried, professed to have been brought up on the rope, and considered it the grandest and most elevating of human pursuits. Signor Sarfuico was grave silent, and even dignified. On the hemp he danced the latest minuet, carried a hamper of glass on his back, and balanced his sword on his chin with a tactiturn stateliness sufficient for a cardinal in full canonicals. His Gallic antagonist talked with immense volubility throughout his performance, generally in his own praise and that of his science, as he pleased to call it; related his experiences, and exchanged repartees with his Dublin and exchanged repartees with his Dublin audience. Signor Sarfuico assured the pul-lic that he was the last seion of a noble Florentine family. Mousieur Perote boasted his descent from a line of rope-dancers, and took spicial pride in one of his ancestors who performed before Henri Quarte. Each gen-tleman professed to know nothing of the the other, but their mutual hatted was said to exceed that of ordinary rivals; through their respective satellites a whisper oozed out that they had traveled and danced together for years on the centinent-that their generator years on the continent—that their quarrels latterly had been such as to call for police interference—that they had separated with rows of vengeance on each other; some intention of that kind was supposed to influence the Frenchman's movements in particular, for wherever the Italian went, there he followed him, and set up his opposing c imp.

They were both excellent in, or rather on. their peculiar lines. As ropes were walked or danced in those days, Dublin had not seen thoir equals, and they divided the town between them. Dowagers fought their battles tween them. Dowagers fought their battles over the cards; young men quarrelled in coffee houses, and met next morning in the Phœnix Park about them; family controversies arose—social circles split and fell away—people altered their wills—old friends passed each other without speaking—and engagements were broken off on account of Seignor Sarfaico and Monsieur Perote. They got mixed up in politics, as what in Dublin did not? The popular of Irish party were the chief supporters of Perote; he bowed to the carmen, and wanted justice for Ireland. The high tories and friends of government, on the carmen, and wanted justice for Ireland. The high tories and friends of government, on the other hand, lent their strength to Sarfuico; he was a reduced gentleman, and no doubt of sound principles. The Irish party, being the most numerous, gave Perote a considerable majority, and what was still more in the Frenchman's favor, the ladies threw their weight into the scale. In spite of the better looks and higher pretensions of his rival, Perote's abundant compliments and devotion to the sex carried the day; the ladies espoused his cause as ladies only can; and in their inthe sex carried the day; the ladies espoused his cause as ladies only can; and in their influence, great as it is and has been in all times and places, had a power on the banks of the Lifley in those days sufficient to swamp any opposition. Mousicur Perote's fame and easibox wedt up at a rate which sthreatened extinction to his rival, till the Italian's ingenuity found out a mode of making things more than even. Sufficie arised his raw. The devention even. Sarfuico raised his rope. The elevation was full twenty feet above anything Perote had ever attempted. The bare advertisement drew a considerable house on the first evening of exhibition, and when it went abroad how he had carried the sack, balanced the sword and drank a glass of wine to the health of the lord-lieutenant, Perote's popularity fell to freezing-point. In vain his most astonishing teats were put in requisition; he stood on one leg to no purpose, danced the minute Te la Cour with no effect; notwithstanding his bows! flie carmen ran to see and shout for his daring antagonist; and though his complimants rose, if possible, to a higher key, the ladies deserted his subject to the ladies deserted him and his rope.

At this epoch, it became public by their him advertisement that Sarfuico and Perote had made friends. Why and how, their most confidential advisers could not declare, but indigeneral advisers could not declare, but it was generally believed that, as became his position, Perote had made the first overtures, and Sarfuico, remembering former days, and not unwilling to rule over his enemy, agreed to let bygones be bygones, and receive him into his service. They were henceforth to act together, and the surmises, speculations and reports that went through Dublia, when that announcement was made, were unexampled. Would the Italian bring down his rope? Would the Frenchman elevate his? Would the stage admit of two ropes? Would there be anything more than the old tricks? Heavy bets were taken on those important questions, and a full hour before its doors were opened, a crowd that might have filled a building twice the size, had collected in front of Sarfuico's theatre. had collected in front of Sarfuico's theatre The getting in and getting places was a considerable business; and when no more seats could be found for the ladies, and no more standing-room for the gentlemen, the curtain lose. Then what a surprise for the eager faces—what a disappointment of shrewd conjectures—what a losing of heavy bets appeared, for therp was Sarfuico's rope alone, at its highest elevation, and there were the rivals both upon it. The Italian looked more than usually grave and grand; the Frenchman determined and unflinching, as if his courage had been screwed up for some desperate purpose. The one bowed solemnly to the boxes, the other to the whole house, but it was carelessly done, and Pecould be found for the ladies, and no more bouse, but it was carelessly done, and Perote's hand was not even laid on his heart when he turned to the ladies.

As soon as the house recovered from amazement, it made the roof ring and the rope tremble, not to speak of those who stood on it, with thunders of applause. Sarfuico's theatre, it must be premised, had been an ancient windmill of more than common height, which allowed room for his present elevation, and there he and his former rival stood some forty feet above the stage. Most people expected the Frenchman to fall, but he did not. The Italian had dan to fail, out he did not. The tailan had evidently no notion of the like; he received the ovation as his due; and the litte dark man who acted as his crier—by the way, he called him Man festo—came forward and announced that the ladtes and gentlemen were that evening to witness a performance never before exhibited on any stage; it was called the Dance of Friendship, invented by Monsicur Perote, and immensely improved by Signor Sarfuico

by Signor Sartineo

The two on the rope immediately began to put themselves in dancing position; they were both in the full dress of the period, with lace rulles, bag wigs, and swords. The eyes of the whole house were fixed on them. Signor Sartiaco was still grand, but in beginning the dance of friendship, he seemed to have some difficulty with his feet. Perote had perceived this, and made some remark, which nobody else could hear; but it aroused the Italian's anger. He raised his hand as if to strike him: unger. He raised his hand as if to strike him; the same instant, Perote's rapier was drawn, and before the audience could comprehend that they had actually quarrefled, Sarfuico's hanger was out also, and they thrusting at each other on the tight rope. A pin might have been heard falling in the crowded house, where everybody sat still in his place gazing up at the two fighting in the air. How they kept their footing, the genius of mischief only knows. The concentrated hatred and malice of their faces were fearful to see up there in the flickering lamplight. Pass after pass, lunge after lunge, they made at each other with the rapidity of lightening. Both were good swordsmen, but Perote was the best of the two; he warded off the Italian's thrusts with anger. He raised his hand as if to strike him; two; he warded off the Italian's thrusts with two; he warded off the Italian's thrusts with his small rapier, and positively seemed more certain of his footing than before the quarrel began; till Sarfuico, making one desperate lunge, received a back stroke which threw him off his balance, and at the same moment attempted to grapple with his enemy. Down he went, and down went Perote. A cry of horespectation the graphes with the second country of the processor from the graphs. ror rose from the spectators; but some power had interfered in their behalf, for there was the Italian hanging to the rope by his feet, and the Frenchman holding on to it with both his hands. "Look, ladies and gentlemen," he cried with a face of triumph sufficient for having saved Christendom, "behold how I have per-illed my life, and, still more, my fame, to unmask deceit and vindicate science! Look at the straps attached to his shoe-soles, and passed over the rope; there is how he made himself safe, and dared to surpass me, whose life was spent on the rope, whose great-grand-father performed before Henri Quatre. I guessed it—I knew it through the inspiration of my science, and I die happy, since the villain is unmasked."

lain is unmasked."

Monsieur Perote did not die happy or otherwise on that occasion. Before his parting speech was done, the spectators had recovered their senses sufficiently to give the alarm; and rush to the rescue with ladders, fire escapes and feather beds to be failen upon. He was got safely down; so with Sarfuico, though it proved a more difficult business, and the docproved a more difficult business, and the doctors could never understand why he did not die of apoplexy. From that evening, however, his glory had departed—a fact of which the last scion of the noble Forentine family was so sensitive, that he departed also without the sound of trumpet, and to the great regret of several tradesmen. His now successful rival made a longer star and a good deal of poins. made a longer stay and a good deal of noise about the unmasking; but the whole scene cured the Dublin world of fashion of its fancy for such performances. One knows not what Blondin may effect, but the like has never been popular among the play goers of the royal city since they happened to witness the duel on the Settlement of Comax Country.

We have repeatedly urged the necessity and expediency of promoting the speedy settlement of our agricultural lands. Every day only adds to our belief in the great benefit to be derived from such a course. The people of this colony must not suffer men to leave it through ignerance of its resources and of the many advantages that present themselves to him who is content with making himself a comfortable and independent home. We often hear of strangers going away with the idea that the whole island is covered with rock; that scarcely a piece of land can be found suitable for farming purposes. There was never a more mistaken notion. The Comax District spoken of in the account we publish in another column is alone more than sufficiently large to give every man in the Colony a farm. It will be time enough to complain of It will be time enough to complain of scarcity of agricultural land when those above-mentioned are taken up. To any man of limited means desirous of settling down on a farm, there never was an opportunity presenting more advantages than the present facilities for settlement in our northern districts now afford. With a soil of the very richest character, covered with clumps of the finest timber, alternately with luxuriant praries well watered, teeming with luxuriant praries well watered, teeming with game, its extreme distance less than 18 hours steam to Victoria, and but a short trip from Bute Inlet, on the British Columbia coast we cannot imagine a more favorable location for one who is at all willing to settle in a new country for agricultural purposes. In a very short time a hundred acres could be repared and sown, a small orchard planted, and, in fact, a substantial commencement of farming life made. No difficulty would be experienced in killing enough deer to give meat for the trouble of catching them; while any one who has seen the Judian while any one who has seen the Indian potato patches in Cowichan can form an idea how a white man can add to his store idea how a white man can add to his store of regetable food at the first set out. It will be thus seen that it does not require much be thus seen that it does not require much capital to embark in farming operations on a small scale the very first year.

Unlike many other undertakings in business, taking up a farm in this country is sure to yield a handsome return. The market for agricultural productions must be continually extending. And with the value of country property steadily increasing, we doubt very much if land can be bought two years hence in what are now new settlements for much less than $40 per acre. Those who can by any possibility make out to do it, need not fear that they will make a false step if they join those who are now beginning to occupy the new lands. Every facility ought to be afforded the settlers to enable them to accomplish the object for which they are setting out. We understand a trail is being opened on from Nanaimo to Courtenay River, and thence on to the interior. This is the proper course to take in the beginning, but it must not be suffered to remain a mere trail. Let there be an uninterrupted wagon road communication with the city of Victoria. there be an uninterrupted wagon road com-munication with the city of Victoria. The in-creased taxable value of property consequent thereon would soon pay for it.

petroleum The religious squabble relative to the religious belief of Sir Allan McNab at his death has occupied quite a space in the Canadian papers. The Bishop of Hamilton (Catholic) states that he was sent for by Sir Allan, who had long previous to his last illness told the Bishop of his intention to die a Catholic. That he found the Baronet perfectly sensible and desirous of being ad-mitted into the Catholic Church, and there-upon made a full profession of that faith in presence of Mr. Stuart and Mrs. McNab his isiter. Dr. Geddes, (Church of England) on the other hand, contends that, at his visit on the evening of Sir Allan's death, he exhib-ited a desire to die in the creed of the Church

RENCONTRE ON GOVERNMENT STREET .-Yesterday afternoon a little row occurred on Government street, which, from its connection with a tragic event that lately transpired in this town, possesses a far greater amount of interest than usually attaches to street brawls. At the coroner's inquest over the body of the late James Webster, it will be remembered that Morris Mayers was summoned as a witness to prove the character of Lawrence's house, and that his evidence was not used. It will also be remembered that Thomas Odell, the husband of a woman who was said to be somewhat mixed up with the murder, rendered himself quite a nuisance while the inquest was progressing by asking questions about the winess Mayers—endeavoring, as it appears, to ascertain whether he had been in the habit of visiting his (Od-Il's) wife at Lawrence's house. He was finally expelled from the jury-room because of his interruptions, and ever since the inquest it is said that Odell jury-room because of his interruptions, and ever since the inquest it is said that Odell has been in the habit of applying opprobrious epithets to Mayers whenever they met, and that on one occasion, about two weeks ago, on the corner of Government and Yates street, Odell stopped the object of his hate and threatened to shoot him, at the same time placing his hand in his breast as if to draw forth a deadly weapon. Bustandars and threatened to shoot him, at the same time placing his hand in his breast as if to draw forth a deadly weapon. Bystanders interfered and the parties were separated before anything tragic occurred. Yesterday Mayers was riding in his buggy through Government street when Odell bawled after him the usual epithets. Mayers subsequently returned to Government street, and Odell repeated his insults. Mayers stopped his his horse, decended from the vehicle and walked towards Odell. The latter placed his hand in his vest as though to draw a pistol or knife, when Mayers struck out from the shoulder and brought him to the sidewalk at the first blow. It is asserted by some that the victor then placed his knee on the prostrate man's chest and gave him an unmerciful mauling. As to the truth of that assertion we cannot vouch; but we do know that Odell's face presented a very dilapidated appearance on emerging from the scrimmage. Mayers received not a scratch. In the course of the afternoon Odell entered a complaint of assault against his antagonist at the police office, and a summons was issued. The case will be heard to-morrow, when it is feared that the old wounds caused by the donestic unhappiness of Odell will be made to bled that the old wounds caused by the domestic unhappiness of Odell will be made to bleed afresh, and that the veil will be torn from a picture of conjugal infidelity and wretched-ness which has until now been hidden from public gaves

STEAMER DAY .- The road to Esquimalt was lined, from an early hour yesterday morning until past noon, with men, horses and vehicles, bound for the steamer Sierra Nevada, and the throng of persons on Esquimalt wharf was dense and the scene lively. The usual amount of drunkenness, petty squabbling and excitement was visible, but no lights occurred. Some 300 persons took their departure Lence yesterday. About 200 of this number were returning Caribooiles, not a few of whom seeds. turning Caribooites, not a few of whom, seedy turning Caribooites, not a few of whom, seedy-looking customers though they were, larged leavy swags of dust aboard. About 30 merchants, bound below for new stocks, and an equal number of "sports" also left on the steamer. The latter seemed in good spirits, in more ways than one, and generally expressed themselves as determined to return "next year" and give the minersamother trial. The quantity of gold dust shipped is estimated at $250,000, and some people who profess to know say that that estimate is below the mark. The steamer left the wharf shortly after one o'clock, with about 600 passengers, including the Salmon Riverites who came from Portland. She will proceed to San Francisco direct, and the Salmon Riverites who came from Portland. She will proceed to San Francisco direct, and if the wind prove favorable should reach that harbor on Sunday next. The San Franciscans will raise a howl of delight when they see the crowd aboard, but we trust that the papers will bear in mind that they are not all from Cariboo, and that all are not "strapped."

WANT A "PERLEESE."-The Esquimalters are growing so "hard" that they require a police force to keep them in order, and are therefore about to memorialize His Excellency to grant them a number of peace-preservers. The memorial sets forth that their lives and property are in danger from the large number of bad customers who pass through or rendez-vous at their town, and that as they have al-ways contributed largely towards the support ways contributed largely towards the support of the Government, they deserve protection—particularly on steamer days. So they do, and we hope that their prayer may receive a favorable answer. Two or three policemen under a competent head should be stationed there, and supported out of the general revenue.

ARREST OF THE MURDERERS OF HENRY AND George.- The gunboat Grappler, on Wednesday night, brought from Nanaimo two Indians and a squaw, the alleged murderers of two white men. John Henly and George, on the northwest coast of British Columbia, about two months ago. The men were shot on an Island near Fort Simpson. The murderers were given up to H. M. ship Devastation by their chiefs, and by that vessel brought to Nanaimo and committed for trial by Justice to you, there is no gold in Cariboo, tell him he Signs of improvement are already perceptis a ninny. The shipment of dust yesterday lible in the manners and behavior of some of by the Sierra Nevada reached in the aggregate at least $250,000. Wells, Fargo & Co. sent down $92,000; McDonald & Co., $35,000; daracters the little knowledge attained characters the little knowledge c and Schloss & Livingstone, $32,000; total by the banks, 159,000. The remainder went in private hands. The shipments within the next mouth will astonish the world—see if COPPER .-- A lump of pure copper, close upon a pound in weight, was found in Stickeen river and brought down in the schooner Louise, The workmen in the Fort Hope "silpoints, The working in the Fort 1996 "silver" mine have struck a rich vein of the same ore at a point where the silver indications gave out, and a copper vein 200 feet in width has been found on the Bonaparte. The mining interests of the Colonies brighten. We have now gold, silver, copper, coal and plumbago mines. Brass is not needed.

THE NEW STEAMBOAT .- The Reliance is at the Hudson Bay Company's wharf, where she will receive the finishing touches. She is 125 feet long, 28 feet beam, 4 feet depth of hold and draws but 9 inches of water. She is the lightest draught boat ever constructed here and will have the powerful machinery saved from the ill-fated Fort Yale placed in her. J. W. Trahey is the builder.

THE COMAX EXPEDITION .-- The expedition which left Victoria for the Comax country on the 1st, by the gunboat Grappler, returned at half-past 11 o'clock last night. Some 35 set-tlers have taken up claims in the vicinity of Courtenay river and express themsolves delighted with their prospect. The land is of the richest character with scattered prairies from five hundred to a thousand acres, well from two hundred to a thousand acres, well watered and abounding with game. Rich prairies of considerable extent may be found between the settlement which has been formed at the mouth of the Courtenay and Point Mudge, a distance of twenty-five miles; and a fine tract of open land is also known to be on the south side of the river, and beyond the belt of timber on its banks. Between Namai-no and Counay is a large target of country of a mo and Comax is a large tract of country of a level character, interspersed with rivers and lakes, and known to contain a large quantity of open prairie land, well adapted to settlement—especially upon the Quamicban river.
The settlers who have taken up their claims intend to return early in the week and will go up together, if the necessary arrangements can be made. All persons who may be desirous of attaining a horsessed in the settlement. obtaining a homestead in this part of the world had better not lose an opportunity so

THE REASON WHY .- Councillor Reid, in a card to the Press last evening, complains that we refused to publish a "sharp letter" which he sent to the editor of the Colonist, complaining of an important error, alleged to have occurred in Monday's report of the Town Council proceedings. Now, this is to inform Capt. Roid that had his "sharp letter" been couched in gentlemanly terms, it would have duly appeared in the COLONIST; but, believing that he had taken advantage of his exalted position as Town Councillor to assume a dictatorial (not to say an impertinent) tone towards us in the aforesaid "sharp letter." we quietly consigned it to our usual receptuele for waste paper, as we shall ever do when in receipt of similar productions, no matter from what source they may emanate. If a mistake occurred we are sorry; but there is a right way and a wrong way in which to ask a correction. Capt. Reid chose the wrong course, and, as a very natural consequence, no correction was or shall be made through the plaining of an important error, alleged to have and, as a very natural consequence, no correction was or shall be made through the columns of the Colonist.

Going Away. - Miss Belle Divine, the charming vocalist and actress, and Mr. Harry Taylor, the well-known pianist, will go to New Westminster. With a personal knowledge of their superior professional attainments, we can cordially recommend them to the kind support of the New Westminster public.

THE MINSTRELLS-Were good as ever last evening. Miss Lotta and Frank Hussy were in high spirits, and Jake Wallace and Mr. Conner fur-provoking as usual. The per-formances by this troupe are always excellent, and a dollar cannot be better invested by its possessor than in witnessing their drolleries.

SHIP "CYCLONE."-This vessel has been withdrawn and will not sail for Sydney, owing to a sufficient number of passengers not having offered themselves. She will positively sail for Shanghae after taking in a cargo of lumber at Alberni, and will carry a few first class passengers, for whom she has excellent accommodation.

SEARCH-WARRANTS .- The luggage of several suspicious characters was searched yesterday as the owners were about to leave on the Sierra Nevada, but nothing to con-nect them with the recent robberies was found among their effect.

Town Council.-This body will meet this evening at 7 o'clock, when the Way in which to raise a revenue, as proposed by the Committee, will be discussed. The proceedings can hardly fail to prove interesting.

Surr .- A suit to recover the value of twenty head of cattle that died on board the ship Car oline E. Reed, during her late voyage from San Francisco to this port, has been commenced against the master.

CRICKET .- Capt. Layton selects eleven to to play with broomsticks any other eleven in the Colony. Wickets pitched at ten o'clock, a. m. to-morrow

The suits brought by the passengers of the Ashmore against that vessel will be brought before the Police Magistrate.

Mr. McCrea will offer a general assortment of goods at the usual hour this morn-

The steamer Enterprise will leave for New Westminster at 10 o'clock this morning

We understand the Agent of the Roya Mail Packet Company will be happy to afford an information in his power to passengers by the Company's boats, as to the mines of British Columbia, or other general local information, by applying at the office of the agency, at Macdonald & Co.'s, Bankers, Yates street.

Letter from Nanaimo.

NANAIMO, Sept. 29, 1862.

EDITOR BRITISH COLONIST:-The intellectual, social, and moral elevation of the Nanaimo Indians, is a subject to which much time and attention is given by the respected pastors of both our churches here. whose efforts and diligence will prove highly Cariboo Gold Dust .- Should anybody say beneficial, if success attend their labor seems to add to their indolence, profanity and blackguardism; these, however, by the persevering spirit of their teachors will, it is hoped, be led to see "the error of their ways."

There are now two churches erected, the second that the second the second that the pretty close to each other, on the Indian reservation. The first by the Rev. Mr. pretty close to each other, on the Indian reservation. The first by the Lev. Mr. Robson, pioneer missionary among them, and the second by the Rev. Mr. Good, who subsequently came into the field. The church built by the former gentleman is a neat and cheap building, with but little regard to architectural effect. The one built by Mr. Good has a touch of the gothic style, and rather costly; though no better suited to its purpose than it less pretending neighbor. Fortunately the Indians have no denominational prejudices; their taste is not like that of white people, neither do they seem to regard the two churches as an opposition; but on the contrary most of them appear to greatly esteem the corriers of anyone who works for their moral welfare. It is said a Roman Catholic Church is next to be built on the reserve, and by the time to be built on the reserve, and by the time there are three churches among so small a tribe of Indians they will most probably conclude that "too much of a good thing, is equally as bad as too little," and suit their action to the words by not attending either place of worship. A person would think that one church among the Nanaimo Indians is quite sufficient, and that the latest comer should have found a word words. is quite sufficient, and that the latest comer should have found a more profitable engagement in some other quarter, and a more suitable way of using funds contributed by the benevolent supporters of the missionary society at home. If I am not mistaken, the most beneficial result to be attained by such a constituable way of missionary funds is most beneficial result to be attained by such a questionable use of missionary funds is, "that it will make good for trade"—contractors, carpenters, etc, quite a different design from that intended by the upholders of sign from that intended by the upnoted missionary institutions in England.

The New York Dailies and the President's Proclamation.

NEW YORK, Sept. 24.—The Tribune regards the President's Emancipation Proclamation as the beginning of the end of the mation as the beginning of the end of the rebellion—as the beginning of the new life of the nation. The Herald considers it the most important document since the adoption of the Federal Constitution, and says that the gravity of the proclamation will strike every one. It has been forced upon the nation by the Abolitionists of the North and the secessionists of the South. It imagurates an overwhelming revolution in the position of labor, the importance of which will not be conlined to the South but will be felt North and West. It adds that it is at this time, with victory in our hands and enormous preparations for crushing the rebellion, that time, with victory in our hands and enormous preparations for crushing the rebellion, that the President issues his manifesto, giving the people of the South an opportunity to decide whether or not they are prepared, for the sake of a few miscrable leaders, to submit to this overwhelming revolution in their social system. The Times says that the wisdom of the measure is unquestionable; its necessity indisputable. Its adoption now is not a confession that the military means for the subsection of the subsection o disjunctive. Its ambituary means for the sup-pression of the great rebellion has proved a failure, but simply that there is a point at which every legitimate appliance that can be called in, shall be availed off.

Q7-DR. HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS should be in the possesion of everybody in the min ing region. As a preventive of various dangerous diseases to which the gold seeker is liable, it has no superior. While it is quite palatable even as a beverage, it is speedy and powerful in its effects upon the system. In all cases of Diarrheas, Dysentery and the pervading fevers consequent upon exposure, the litters will be found invaluable as a corrective. No man should enter upon the exposed camp life of a miner without being provided with Hostetter's preventive of stonned disease, nor should any of those who are now engaged in the occupation, full to have recourse to the litters.

HOLLOWAY'S OINTMENT AND PILLS.—The treatment pursued by Professor Holloway for the cure of wounds and ulcers is the most simple and certain in its effects, it has been tried by hundreds of thousands, and never been known to fail; by the administration of sn internal remedy (the Pills,) he drives disease out, and by the administration of an external remedy (the Ointment,) he heals wounds, ulcers, and the worst of external legs, and ulcers, are cured, even when they have been upwards of twenty years standing.

Bronchil AL AFFECTIONS.—A clergyman writing from Morristown, Ohio, speaking of the beneficial effects resulting from the use of "Brown's Bronchial Troches." says: "Last spring I feared my lungs were becoming dangerously involved, and until I used your Troches could not preach a sermon of ordinary length without hoarseness but now (with the assistance of the Troches) I have in the past five weeks preached some forty sermons."

BILIOUS APPECTIONS—Are speedily removed by the use of Dr. D. Jayne's Sanative Pills. The test of 30 years' use has proved them superior to all other remedies for the cure of the various diseases for which they are recommended. In their action they are mild and certain, and may be taken at any time without risk from exposure, and on this account they are invaluable to the miner, as they may be taken without necessitating a discontinuance of work, even though the latter should be in the winter.

Dr. W. W. WINTER, of Milledgeville, Ill., writes:
It is with great pleasure that I can recommend you EXPECTORANT to those suifering from Bronchlaf After though taying used it with the most satisfactory results.

Mr. NATHAN PRINTPACKER, of Upper Uwchland, Chester county, Pa., says:
Having been attleted with ASTHMA and BRONCHITIS, and the treatment of several skillful physicians proxing of no avail, I commenced the use of your EXTECTURANT. After taking it for about three months 1 found myself entirely cured.

Rev. John Dowling, D. D., Pastor of the Berean Baptist Church, N. 1., writes:

I have long known the virtues of your EXPECTORANT, and frequently tested them on myself and family, when afflicted with COUGHS or COLDS. I believe it to be one of the best remedies ever discovered for these maladies.

Mr. READING DOTY, of Twenty Mile Stand, Warrounty, Ohio, says. Recently I had an attack of ASTHMA, the most distress of all diseases, and vesterday afternoon ing of all discases, and yesterday afternoon, after taking short ride, I returned home almost unable to breath Through the persuasion of my wife I was led to try you EXPECTORANT. The first dose gave instant relief, an after the fourth dose I enjoyed a refreshing sleep, and the next morning arose in better health than for two year

MAURICE SCHWARZ, of Concord, Wis., says: When the WHOOPING COUGH prevailer can at our piace, the disease seemed to balle our physicals. In various cases the EXPECTORANT was used, and it did not fail to cure,

JOHN NARRIMAN, Esq., of Stewartstown, N. H., writes: conn annument, buy, or stewartstown, N. H., writes; Not long since, a child of mine had a very violent and distressing attack of CROUP, which must have prove fatal had not immediate relief been obtained. I com menced giving your EXPECTORANT, and within three quarters of an hour the child had taken six teaspoonsful breathed with perfect ease, a cure within that time having been effected.

Rev. Rufus Barcock, D. D., formerly President of Water lile College, Maine, writes:

vnic tonege, Maine, writes:

For more than a dozen years I have recommended Dr. DAINES FAMILY MEDICINES, and especially the EAPECTORANT. I know that these insulcines are highly selement and frequently prescribed by some of the most respectable of the regular practitioners of medicine and the court material medical and the court material medical and a safe as well as enlinently beneficial remedy for the diseased.

DAVID TURNER, of Cassville, Huntington county, Penn. writes:
My son, aged nineteen years, was confined to his bed for or three months, his disease being pronounced by the titending physician to be CONSUMPION. Failing to botain any reflect from the treatment he had been understoned, procured forbing JAYNES EXPECTORNAT and brough its use he has been entirely restored to health.

Mr. Joan Henry, of Burlington, Bradford county, Penn sylvania, says: sylvania, says:
For two years, my son was afflicted with a disease resembling CONSUAITION, and during this period was unable to labor. Being finally induced to try your EXPECTORANT, he was completely cured after taking ten bottles, and hie is now able to work every day.

Mr. Preston Ewing, Laconte, Harrison county, Indiana,

wittes:
Being afflicted with BRONCHITIS for the space of three years, to such an extent that I was obliged to relinquish the teaching of Youal Musle, and failing to obtain any reflet from the physicians whom I consulted, I gave the EXPECTOR ANT a trial. After using it for a few weeks I was very much refleved; and by its continued use my

HEALTH FOR A SHILLING

Headaches, Bile, Loss of Appetite, and Lowness of Spirits.

MEDICAL.

Lowness of Spirits.

These Pills require no interruption of business or pleasure; they act mildly on the bowels, strengthen the stomach, and promote a healthy action of the liver, whereby they purify the blood, cleanse the skin, brace the nerves, and invigorate the while system. They effect a truly wonderful change in debilitated constitutions, as they create a healthy appetite, correct indigestion, remove bile, giddiness, head-aches, and palpitation of the heart.

Weeklenes and Dobility.

Weakness and Debility.

In cases of debility, languor, and nervousness generated by excess of any kind, whether mental or physical, the effect of these Pills is in the highest degree bracing, renovating and restorative. They drive from the system the morbid cause of disease; re-ostablish the digestion, regulate all the secretions, brace the nervous system, ruise the patient's spirits, and the nervous system, the nervous system and the secure periest digestion to all ordinary food, and release the invalid from restraint in diet.

A Word to Females.

There are two periods, aspecially in Woman's life, which require for safe passage, judgment and attent.

Iregularity is apt at those critical times to take place, and to lay the foundation of future discase. These Pills, safe in action, and effective in result, should be taken at certain periods, and the issue will be marvellous both to the young and the middle aged. They prevent nervousness, histeries, dropsy and a host of similar serious disorders, by expelling all in purities from the system, therefore none should ver be without them.

Crughs, Colds, and Asthmas, No medicine will cure colds so quickly as these Pills, when of long duration or settled on the chest, or even though it has assumed the first stage of asth ma, they may be relied on as a certain and never failing cure, particularly if the Ontmeat be well rubbed into the chest and throat night and morning. But this catch the eye of any asthmatical persons so had as even not able to lie down in bed, let him well use these two preparations for only a week, and the reutit will be marvellour.

Blood to the Mead-Diseases of the Heart. More persons die saddenly from diseases of the heart than the unlearned suppose: in such complaints, the lowels should always be kept well open, as also where there is a tendency of blood to the lead. These celebrated Pills purify the blood in an extraordinary manner, and too well open, as also where there is a tendency of blood in an extraordinary manner, and too well of the suppose of the leading of the suppose of the leading of the suppose of the leading of the suppose of the su

Children's Complaints. Children's Complaints.

It is not generally known, but such is the fact, that children require medicine oftener than their parents, Three-lourths of the children die before they attain the age of eight years. Let mothers, then, be wise, and give to their children small doses of these invanible Fills once or twice every week, in such quantity as may act gently upon the system twice in the wenty-lour hours. For infants, a Pill may be crushed and given as a powder in a little water. The gross humors that are constantly floating about in the blood of children, the foreguniers of so many complaints, will thus be expelled, and the lives of thou sands saved and preserved to their parents.

ing a wide-spread celebrity in all parts of the State. It is sufficient evidence of their great merit to observe the large quantities shipped by our principal Wine Merchants to every part of the country.

Sainsevain, however, like all other manufacturers of new and valuable articles, has to contend with unscrupulous parties, who are introducing a spurious nikture purporting to be his Wine Bitters, which noxious compounds are put up in the same style of bottles, labels, etc., so as to pass for the Sainsevain brand. We call attention to this fact so that our citizens may be upon their guard, and that when they ask for Sainsevain's Bitters, see that they get them. As pure Wine is destined to drive from use all alcoholic decoctions, so these Bitters will soon take the place of the adulterated preparations which now flood our market. Those desiring a pure and agreeable tonic should try Sainsevain's Wine Bitters or California Vernaudth.

We have appointed W. H. OLIVER, of Victoria, V. I., to be our Sole Agent for the British Possessions.
